

RHS CHELSEA FLOWER SHOW

RHS Chelsea Flower Show 2022

a return to pre-pandemic traditional Spring & Summer blooms.

Light Symphony's lighting controls featured in a number of the winning gardens again this year, creating a superb night-time spectacle.

Large statement trees (including Chinese elm and Scots pine), hint at the traditional lifeboat-building materials used when the RNLI was formed in 1824, nearly 200 years ago. The green oak pavilion at the rear of the garden features carved lettering and turned columns which then lead the eye down a textural Purbeck stone path flowing through deep and luscious borders. This garden was a firm public favourite and lent itself well to a professional lighting scheme. Well done to all those involved, a 9th Gold for Chris Beardshaw.

Below: St. Mungo "Putting Down Roots"

A charity supporting people to recover from homelessness across London and the South of England, had a show garden designed by Cityscapes. It's playful use of bright, contemporary colours was echoed with the after-dark lighting.

Thank you for choosing Light Symphony Lighting Controls
